Short Measured?

Have you ever carried that feeling away with you from the gasoline service station?

Regardless of the integrity of the man you have patronized, have you felt that you have not had the proper quantity measured out to you?

There are hundreds of thousands who share that feeling with you. And investigations of federal authorities have shown that your suspicions are well founded.

This element of doubt will always exist—until the purchaser can see how much he is getting. Seeing is believing.

Don't buy blind-folded gasoline. Demand to see that you get what you pay for.

The Five Gallon Visible Pump measures from one to five brimful gallons so that the purchaser can see the quantity and quality of the gasoline he is buying.
